

PATIENT FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY NOTICE

Because we are focused on overall health and wellness, it is important to us that you understand the term “Medically Necessary.”

“Medically necessary” is defined by your insurance carrier as treatment or services that are specific to your diagnosis and for which your insurance company will pay, as per your contract with them. There may be specific limits to your coverage or specific services that are not covered, and your carrier also determines this.

Your insurance company makes the final determination on whether a service is medically necessary and will be covered by insurance. It is the patient’s financial responsibility to pay for services that are not covered.

The patient has been informed of their financial liability directly to UniversalDx in the case that their insurance company denies all or part of these services as not medically necessary; they fully accept the financial responsibility to pay UniversalDx for any services received, which their insurance carrier deems to be not medically necessary. UniversalDx has discussed medical necessity limitations, clinically appropriate care, and the fact that the insurance company may deny treatment as not medically necessary.

By authorizing pre payment, the patient understands and agrees to:

Having their card automatically charged for any remaining patient responsibility up to $50 after the insurance carrier has reviewed their claim and submitted payment.

By not authorizing an auto charge, the patient understands and agrees to:

If they receive a bill in the mail for any testing not covered by their insurance provider, they agree to pay the bill within 30 days of receiving the bill or they are subject to collections.
